Drama On Shawsheen

Canoeist Drowns, Skindiver Rescued In River Tragedy

An Andover canoeist perished and a Tewksbury skindiver searching for the body was dramatically saved late Tuesday afternoon in the Shawsheen River off Tantillon Road, in the rear of the power plant for the Shetland Industries complex.

Dr. Paul William Trumpeter, 28, of 38 Porter Road, apparently drowned when he was swept under a falls and caught in the violent undercurrent.

His companion John N. Buehler, 27, of West Boxford, escaped.

Robert Fowler of the Tewksbury Skindivers, and member of that community's rescue squad, was also swept up in the undercurrent and lost his face mask and breathing apparatus in searching for the body.

Fowler was taken unconscious from the swirling river and administered to by Dr. William J.

O'Reilly, who was at the scene and credited with saving the young man's life.

Fowler was taken to Lawrence General hospital for further treatment and released Wednesday morning.

His two diving companions, also caught in the undercurrent, Collins and Hancock, from Tewksbury were also taken to Lawrence General for treatment and released.

So swift was the current at this particular point in the river, that ropes and other safety equipment were not holding the divers.

Fowler, caught in the current which was backslashing, had his mask torn off and was whipped around as rescuers tried to reach him.

Successful in their attempts, he was brought unconscious to

Injunction Sought Against Pony Races

An injunction has been sought and is due for a Monday hearing in Superior Court to prevent the Middlesex Pony Trotting Association, Inc., from conducting races off Chandler Road and Brundrett Avenue.

The group, which sought a special permit from the Board of Appeals earlier this year and was denied, conducted races again Sunday until the activity was halted by the police along with Town Counsel Alfred L. Daniels.

There were an estimated 60 pony vans, an equal number of cars and about 200 persons in

A Gift Of Land

Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS) announces that Miss Rebekah Lockwood Taft, formerly of Andover, but now of Colorado Springs, Colorado, has generously made available to the public an area of about 30 acres of land, which she has designated as the "Amy Gordon Taft Memorial Reservation."

This is in memory of her mother, Amy Gordon (Torrence) Taft, wife of the late Rev. Arthur N. Taft, retired Episcopal clergyman, formerly residing at 232 Salem St., where one of Miss Taft's brothers, the Rev. Frederick P. Taft, now lives.

The land, which has been in the Taft family since the family moved to Andover in 1931, consists of a well-wooded area containing a small pond. It runs along the easterly side of the By-Pass (Route 125)

Mrs. Amy Gordon Taft between Wildwood Road and Vine Street. It adjoins land extending to Salem Street which is owned by Miss Taft's other brother, Mr. Alexander T. Taft.

Miss Taft has initially conveyed to AVIS the ownership of a 4 1/2 acre portion of her land, fronting on Vine Street, and has leased the remainder to AVIS with the intention of conveying to AVIS other portions of it from time to time. In the meantime, it will all be under the management of AVIS, which will post signs at the entrances, both on Wildwood Road and Vine Street, and lay out and mark appropriate trails to make the land available for public use.

Miss Taft intends that the use of her land should "encourage children to love the beauty of nature" as her mother did. The land is to be held permanently for conservation and recreational use only, in

Two area young men were recipients of Bachelor of Arts degrees at Commencement exercises at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, Saturday, June 3.

Frederick Nichols Nowell, III, of Andover and Jonathan Daniel Hatch, received their degrees from Roger Howell, Jr., resident of the college.

Nowell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick N. Nowell, Jr., of 23 Cheever Circle, is a graduate of Phillips Academy.

A Classics major and Dean's list student, Nowell is a member of Theta Delta Chi Fraternity. In 1969 he was the recipient of his fraternity's Freshman of the Year Award, and last year he was awarded the William Campbell Root Cup by his fraternity for his outstanding contributions to Bowdoin.

Nowell is a former Social Chairman, Alumni Secretary, Rushing Chairman and Treasurer of Theta Delta Chi. He was on the staff of the "Orient," the weekly student newspaper at Bowdoin, and a member of the Camera Club and the Sailing Club.

A disc jockey on WBOR, the campus FM radio station, Nowell won two letters as manager of the varsity track team. He also participated in interfraternity sports.

Frederick N. Nowell, III

Nowell was active in the Bowdoin "Big Brother" program, a volunteer project in which Bowdoin students act as advisors to boys from the Brunswick area.

School Calendar

School will be out for the summer Tuesday noon, June 13, thanks to one vacation this spring instead of two, and the cooperation of Mother Nature - no snow days this year.

The 1972 - 1973 school calendar, printed below, contains two vacations after Christmas, one in February, one in April.

School begins Thursday, Sept. 7 for students, and will close on Friday, June 22, 1973, if all five snow days are used. The calendar contains 185 school days, five over the legal 180 days, so that school could close as much as a week earlier, if the weather cooperates again.

The 1972-'73 calendar:

Sept. 5 and 6, teacher orientation and workshop days; Thursday, Sept. 7, schools open for full day; Monday, Oct. 9, school closed, Columbus Day; Monday, Oct. 23, schools closed, Veterans Day; Wednesday, Nov. 22, schools close at noon for Thanksgiving recess; Friday, Dec. 22, schools close at end of day for Christmas recess.

Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1973, schools reopen; Friday, Feb. 16, schools close at end of day for February week vacation; Friday, April 13, schools close at end of day for April week vacation; Monday, May 28, school closed, Memorial Day; Friday, June 22, schools close at noon for students; Tuesday, June 26, teachers released.

SCRUBBING THE BOAT, PA Crew Coach Bill Brown and Captain-Elect Bill Kerine of North Andover clean the varsity shell after a victorious season.

A Successful Crew

The Phillips Academy crew capped off a winning season by defeating favored Exeter last Saturday, and looks forward to another strong year under newly elected captain Bill Kerins of North Andover.

Kerins, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kerins, 355 Sutton St., was elected captain for the 1973 season at an end-of-year victory celebration of the upset over the Exeter crew.

Coach William H. Brown noted that after early losses to Kent School and the Northeastern Freshman crew, the PA crew then won seven in a row. They pulled ahead in races over Tabor and St. Paul's School, Trinity Freshmen, Harvard Freshmen, St. John's School, Mt. Hermon and finally Exeter. The PA crew placed fourth in the interscholastic crew race, out of 12 boats.

Next year? Coach Brown looks forward to "a very strong situation." Three oarsmen of the first boat are returning, and seven big huskies of the second boat will be coming back to compete for rowing spots in the varsity shell.

Ecology Proves Profitable

Andover Ecology Action is giving big money away to conservation groups these days, proving that there's profit in ecology, as well as preservation of natural resources. They're also hoping to hand their business venture over to the town.

The young ecologists have given $250 to the Andover Village Improvement Society, and $100 to the Shawshen River Watershed Association out of the profits of AEA's newspaper recycling project at the dump.

The student ecology group has meanwhile recommended that the town hire a monitor for the dump under the Emergency Employment Act, and take over the recycling center as a town function, to put it on a firm permanent basis.

The recycling station for newspapers and bottles have been manned each Saturday by AEA members who are students at the Andover junior and senior high schools and Abbot and Phillips Academies.

John Oldham of PA, AEA president for next year, and Isla Grant, an AEA graduating senior at the high school, presented Harold Rafton with a $250 check for AVIS in an impromptu ceremony on the steps of Memorial Hall Library Friday. Rafton declared that AVIS was delighted and grateful for the AEA contribution, which would be saved toward more AVIS land acquisition for conservation and recreational purposes.

"We support the efforts of Andover's young people in recycling and other conservation projects, and admire their example," Rafton added.

Bob McQuade, head of the department of public works, confirmed that AEA has requested that the town hire a monitor for recycling projects at the dump under the Emergency Employment Act. McQuade said that the recommendation is under review now by the town manager.

Pennant Race Gets Torrid

By Rick Harrison

One of the closest pennant struggles in Andover Little League history continued at a torrid pace in the American League this week, as the top four teams were separated by a mere half-game through action last Monday night.

The first-place Twins (6-3) lead the second-place Tigers (7-4) by scant percentage points, while the White Sox (6-4) and Red Sox (6-4) remain just a whisker behind.

In the National League, the Giants (9-1) have opened up a 2 1/2 game lead and may be on the verge of breaking the Cards' domination.

Most of the teams have completed at least two-thirds of their season, and it will be into the home stretch with no second chances from this point onward.

Top pitching performance of the week was turned in by Dennis Monroe of the Cubs, who fired a no-hit shutout at the Braves.

In the power department, Bob Kramer of the Tigers belted his second homerun and Ron Richards of the Mets connected for the first time this season.

Cubs 6, Braves 0 - Dennis Monroe's no-hit mound gem included nine strikeouts and just three walks.

Heavy hitters for the Cubs were Joe Develis and Greg Stupack with triples, while Paul Farnham and Jeff Hudgins banged out singles.

Ron Jones was a defensive standout at second base for the Cubs, while Brett Morava starred in the field at shortstop for the Braves.

We also must put in a good word here for Mrs. Sally Hudgins, who has been minding the center-field scoreboard without a single mistake thus far for the Cubs.

Giants 3, Pirates 2 - Lee Apgar and Jimmy Lee pitched three innings apiece for the red-hot Giants, combining talents for their sixth straight mound victory. They tossed a four-hitter and whiffed nine.

Russ Serbagi continued his triple binge for the victors, slamming his fourth and fifth three-baggers of the season.

Robby Robinson, Bill Eaton and Apgar all lashed RBI singles to account for the Giants' runs.

Brian McGann stroked a pair of singles for the Pirates, and hard-luck losing hurler Len Driscoll pitched well.

Mets 17, Cards 12 - Trailing 8-0 after two innings, the Mets exploded for five runs in the second, four in the third and six in the fourth to beat the defending town champs for the first time in quite awhile.

Ron Richards hammered a three-run homer, and added two singles for five RBIs altogether. Andy Bixby drilled three hits, while winning hurler Tom Coffey and Steve Morin delivered two safeties apiece.

For the Cards, Keith McIntyre had three hits to spark the offense. Glenn Ippolito and Tony Sanchez contributed two bingles apiece. Coffey fanned seven batters during the wild game.

Giants 8, Cubs 3 - Frank Pelletier fashioned a fine two-hitter, striking out 10 en route to the victory.

The booming bat of Russ Serbagi produced another triple, Lee Apgar and Jim Lee laced two hits each for the league-leaders, while Kevin Lynch clouted a double.

Danny Morreo came through with a clutch two-run single for the Giants, and Mike Silverman added an RBI single in the fifth inning.

Pirates 10, Braves 3 - The Pirates picked up four runs in the bottom of the first frame, and then coasted home from there.

Big Tom Fogarty notched his first pitching triumph, twirling a two-hitter and fanning six.

Fogarty and Mark Gould led the winners' hit barrage with a double and two singles each. Len Driscoll and Brian McGann added two bingles apiece.

The only Braves' hits were singles by Marty Solomon and Brett Morava.

Twins 3, Tigers 2 - This was a real cliffhanger, with both teams turning in outstanding all-around efforts in every aspect of the game.

Winning pitcher Geoff Bragdon and hard-luck loser Pop Kramer matched five-hitters. Bragdon struck out two batters and Kramer whiffed five.

Geoff Bragdon and Jerry Stabile sparked the Twins at the plate with 2-for-3 each, and Dean Russell chipped in with a timely safety.

Ricky Collins of the Tigers clouted a top-of-the-fence double in the sixth inning, that just missed being a game-tying homerun.

Kramer cracked a double and single to help himself, while Jaimie Dion and Ray Rau stroked singles.

The Twins led 3-1 entering the sixth-and-final stanza. With one man on base, Collins unloaded his long double that hit the top of the fence and bounced back onto the field.

With the score 3-2, the Tigers had runners at second and third with one out. However, the next two hitters were retired without further damage to end the game.

Tigers' first baseman Jaimie Dion also made a spectacular defensive play, stabbing a line drive by Willy Nikonchuk and saving a run.

Yankees 10, Red Sox 7 - One of the strangest games on record. The contest lasted 2 1/2 hours before being called by darkness in the sixth.

There were 17 runs on just three hits. There were also 25 walks - 16 by the Sox and nine by the Yanks.

Winning pitcher Charlie Souter and reliever Brian Feeney combined for a two-hitter and 10 strikeouts.

Loser Randy Hayman, author of a no-hit shutout his last time out, allowed just one hit but was plagued by wildness.

Dave LaFleur had the lone Yanks' hit, a two-run double in the fifth that drove home what proved to be the winning runs.

Dave Farrell cracked a two-bagger and Timmy Dubois singled for the Sox, and the game ended with a big rhabarb.

White Sox 12, Indians 1 - Jim Wetterberg tossed a three-hitter and fanned 14 for the Sox.

Mike Henderson blasted a double and single for the victors. Steve DeSalvo had a big double to key a five-run first inning, and Ray Lynch also doubled.

Mark Hinds smashed a triple, and singles were contributed by Brian Bresnahan and Wetterberg.

Kirk Skinner was 2-for-2 with a double and single for the Indians, while Brendan Reilly powered a double for the only other hit.

Tigers 11, Yankees 1 - This game was 0-0 entering the top of the fourth, but then a two-run homer by Bob Kramer opened the floodgates.

The Tigers added five runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth. Kramer finished with two hits. Ricky Collins cracked a brace of doubles, while Ray Rau laced two singles and Jaimie Dion starred defensively at third base this time.

Dave Alexander went the distance for the pitching win, stopping the Yanks on three hits and whiffing four.

Chuck Souter doubled and played well at shortstop for the Yanks. Losing pitcher Billy Shaw hurled three good innings before tiring.

Tigers 7, Yankees 2 - Dave Alexander was the winner again, firing a four-hitter and striking out 11 while walking five.

Alexander also ripped a double, and singles were added by Eddie Collins, Mark Lyons, Rick Collins, Bob Kramer and Ray Rau.

Once again the Yanks' Charlie Souter was a defensive standout at short, and Billy Shaw pitched well in a losing cause.

Yankees 7, Indians 2 - Brian Feeney authored a four-hitter and collected eight strikeouts to gain the mound win.

Pete Chicklis and Charlie Souter smacked two-run doubles for the Yanks, while Dave LaFleur punched out two singles.

Ed Comeau guided the Indians' offense with a two-run double, and Phil Weeks of the Yanks was the defensive wizard at shortstop.

Austrian Archduke Ferdinand was assassinated June 28, 1914, starting World War II.

Ass't. Principal Adams To Retire In August

West Junior High Assistant Principal Charles Adams will retire Aug. 31, according to the retirement notice which the school committee accepted with regret Tuesday night.

Adams, who has been a member of the school system since 1962, was assistant principal of the high school, then switched over to West Junior High to help out during WJHS Principal William E. Hart's sabbatical absence.

A leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Sue Ann Hutchinson for the 1972-73 year, in order to pursue a master's degree on a full-time basis.

Two resignations were accepted, from Mrs. Marjorie Long, a school nurse, and Mrs. Mary Lou Huffling, West Elementary School special education teacher. Each has been with the school system since 1937.

Five elections of new teachers were approved, at the same meeting. James Whyte, who has been teaching science at West Junior High one year, and has since received certification in the field of science, was formally elected as a science teacher. His salary will be at Step 8 of the master's degree plus 30 pay-scale.

Mrs. Daryl Arsenault was elected as an adaptive physical education teacher at the elementary level, at step 1 on the bachelor's pay scale.

Mrs. Arsenault received her BS in physical education with concentration in special education from the University of Massachusetts this month. Her practice teaching has been at Belcher-town State School, where she also served as intern in sensorimotor training.

Mr. John Pierce was elected to the new budget position of learning disabilities tutor, at step 3 on the bachelor's scale. His BA degree in English was received from the University of Massachusetts, and he has served as learning disabilities tutor at the Eagle Hill School for two years, and has Massachusetts certifications.

Mrs. Elizabeth Keefe, a part-time learning disabilities tutor, was elected as a full-time learning disabilities tutor at step 7 on the bachelor's scale. She took the LD training course in Andover in 1968-69, after her B.S. degree in education in 1948. She had three years experience as an LD tutor before coming to Andover and has been LD tutor here since 1969, and has certification.

Mrs. Anne Wilson was appointed as a learning disabilities tutor, 4/10 time with Massachusetts certification, at step 1 on the bachelor's scale. She has a B.A. degree from Bucknell U., completed the PERCEPT program at Salem State in 1970 and is completing the L.D. course in Andover, while she is an aide at Shawsheen working with L.D.

children there.

Mrs. Virginia Spinney was elected as a Primary level teacher at West Elementary School, at step 7 on the bachelor's scale. Mrs. Spinney received her B.S. degree from Merrimack College in 1964, has taken reading courses at Salem State and U.N.H. Extension, as well as courses in learning disabilities at Tufts and Lowell State. She has taught since 1966 at Atkinson, N.H.

The committee approved the re-appointment of Miss Judy McWalters as special education teacher, and the appointment of Alfio Graceffa as assistant band director at $596.25.

The committee also approved the following reappointments of learning disabilities tutors:

An Unusual Scholar

By Susan E. Beroz

Young, handsome, athletic and brilliant. The perfect qualities for a man to possess. Sounds impossible, doesn't it?

Well, if anyone fits that description it's Konrad Marchaj, a graduating senior at AHS.

Nineteen years old, he is already an outstanding soccer player and will be graduating within the top 10% of his class. He also has the distinctive honor of being accepted to Yale University, the college he will attend. Other colleges he could have gone to were MIT and B.U.

Why Yale? Konrad wanted a smaller college with the advantages of a large school and Yale fits that description exactly. Also, he admitted, it does have prestige and that did have something to do with making his final choice.

At Yale, he plans to try out for their soccer team - to put to use the experience he has already gained.

Konrad is quite unusual in one aspect. He is not a citizen of the U.S., although he hopes to be quite shortly. When he was fourteen, he and his family moved from Poland to New Jersey, U.S.A. Last September, they came to Andover.

Although both of his parents speak English quite well, the family still speaks Polish to each other.

Any differences between Polish education compared with American? Konrad answered "Not really, except Russian is mandatory starting at the fifth grade."

As for the schools in Andover he believes the education to be of a higher quality than New Jersey.

He plans to major in economy, but doesn't want to limit himself too soon.

The subject that he does the best in is mathematics. Some people might comment that "It's in his blood," since both of his parents are engineers.

Family wise, he has one sister, Dorothy - a sophomore at AHS.

Konrad is an extensive reader, yet also likes winter skiing and other sports. He also plays the piano, having taken lessons for many years in Poland, and the organ.

At AHS, he is a member of the Varsity Club.

Annual Andona Meeting

The annual dinner meeting of the Andona Society of Andover was held at the Lanam Club on June 6.

Mrs. Arthur Muldoon, president for the last two years, presided over the meeting. Reports were given telling of the successful projects carried out this year which enabled Andona to further its aim to help the youth of Andover.

During the past twenty years Andona has raised, pledged and given over $50,000 dollars in scholarships and gifts. Over thirty organizations or individuals have received aid thru this society. This year Andona was pleased to be able to present a check for $15,000 to the YMCA building fund. As part of its civic projects, Andona conducts the annual Pre-School Vision Screening as well as the Red Cross baby sitting course given at the junior level. Each year two $1,000 scholarships are awarded to two graduating seniors at Andover High School plus over $800 in campships to other Andover youths.

Newly elected officers for the following year are: president, Mrs. John Perlowski; vice president, Mrs. David Barrett; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Swift; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Gable.

Chairmen of the standing committees are: ways and means, Mrs. David Starkweather; meetings, Mrs. Thomas Dill, public relations, Mrs. Bruce Taylor; civic, Mrs. Charles Montgomery; membership, Mrs. Leonard Gardner; points, Mrs. Robert Tassinari and properties, Mrs. Peter Price.

Summer Driving Tip: Share the driving. Have someone take over when you get sleepy.

its natural state, for the use and enjoyment of the public, for walking, birding, snowshoeing and similar purposes; but no building is to be built on it, nor are motor vehicles or hunting to be permitted in the reservation.

Miss Taft, formerly a Trustee of AVIS, has long been active in conservation, both here and in Colorado. She was born in Colorado, and while living with her parents for some years in Andover, was active in Christ Church, the Girl Scouts, and the League of Women Voters.

Miss Taft said it was most appropriate that the reservation be in memory of her mother, who was particularly fond of children and of the outdoors. Mrs. Taft was a long time resident of Andover, taking part in the Andover Guild, the League of Women Voters, and the Andover Consumers' Cooperative.

Harold R. Rafton, chairman of the Land Committee of AVIS, who represented AVIS in handling the arrangements with Miss Taft, stated: "It is a source of gratification to me personally, as a long time friend of Miss Taft, and to the Board of Trustees of AVIS, to be able to announce this splendid action of Miss Taft. This land will now constitute the ninth major reservation of AVIS.

This is the second reservation of AVIS to be dedicated by a relative to honor a specific person, the other being the Ann Rawlins Greene Reservation, of 31 acres, bequeathed to AVIS by John Gardner Greene in 1970, in honor of his wife.

Chairman Rafton states that this dignified and permanent method of honoring a relative or a friend may appeal to other of our citizens, either by making a direct gift of land to AVIS, or a gift or bequest of funds or other property to be used to acquire land for such purpose. It is by such thoughtful and generous action that Andover will be assured of the saving of open space in our town for the benefit of the present and future generations of our townspeople.

AEA ActionLine

In response to Mrs. Joan W. Gilliatt and others who have made inquiries about cars and air pollution.

You, as an individual, can do many things to reduce the pollution that you, as an automobile user, can cause. The best action to take is to use public transportation whenever possible. Buses produce just 1/5 and trains only 1/10 of the pollution per passenger that cars do. By 1975, however federal automotive air pollution standards will come into effect, which will permit cars to produce only 1/100 as much pollution as they are allowed to produce now. No matter when a car is bought, it is best to choose one that has a small engine. Smaller engine displacement generally means less pollution per mile.

Each individual can also reduce the pollution from the car(s) that he (or she) already owns. One of the most effective pollution fighting steps that you can take is having a car engine tune-up. A study has shown that after it has had a tune-up, the average car produces 55% less pollution than it did before. As an added benefit, a tune-up will increase your car's gas mileage, thus saving you money at the same time as reducing pollution. Another important thing that you can do to fight pollution is to use lead-free gas instead of regular fuel. Using lead-free instead of leaded gas makes a lot of good things happen. First, the poisonous lead emissions from your car are eliminated. Second, since engines loose from 5 to 7 percent of their power in their first 20,000 miles because of lead deposits, changing to lead-free gas will increase your engine's power. And third, tests have shown that using lead-free gas is indeed one of the best things that you can do for your car and your environment. Finally, if you are willing to invest about $500 you can have your engine converted so that it will run on LPG (Liquid Petroleum Gas). Equipping your car with an LPG system would lower its operating expenses, because LPG costs less than gasoline and cut your car's pollution emissions by a factor of ten.

For further information refer to the Annual Roundup for New-Car Buyers in the April, 1972 issue of Consumer Report. A list of the results of emission tests for 1971 cars is found in the Federal Register, April 10, 1971, vol. 36, No. 70. It may be obtained from the Environmental Protection Agency in Boston.

In response to Mrs. Lyman Pope:

Your complaint concerning the dumping off of Woodland Road, left from the building of a P.A. dormitory was called to the attention of Mr. Stott, Dean of Administration and Development. He has looked into the matter and the dirt will be pushed back within a few days.

In a continuing effort to preserve the natural environment of the Town of Andover, the TOWNSMAN in cooperation with Andover Ecology Action is sponsoring a weekly environmental Action Line. If you have any questions dealing with ecology or a related subject please send them to: AEA ActionLine, P. O. Box 148, Andover, Mass. 01810.

We will also follow up any report of pollution.

ENJOY YOUR INFLATION HEDGE

The best way to get people to talk about economics is to have prices skyrocket. People who worry about inflation aren't kidding; the problem is real and serious. But what can we do to protect ourselves?

If you are a homeowner, you are doing it unknowingly because one of the safest and surest hedges against inflation is the ownership of a house. If you keep your house, your "shelter" expense will stay fairly steady even in times of rising prices. The payments on a mortgage don't change at all.

If you decide to sell, you can be confident - except in a forced sale - of getting back more money than before inflation hit. And, if you're in need of cash, your rising equity in the house increases your potential borrowing power with the mortgage lender. So, if you're a homeowner, you've been an effective economist all along and didn't know it.

Change In Driver Ed. Is Contemplated

Driver's education, dental hygiene and the junior highs' personal typing program came under school committee scrutiny Tuesday night, and the first two programs face major changes.

The driver education program probably will be contracted out to a private driving school, at bid, with parents sharing some of the cost.

The school's 40-odd year old dental hygiene program is due for a complete revamping under the guidance of local dentists. The aim: to introduce effective dental health curriculum, and cut out dental examinations and care where they duplicate the home program.

The ninth grade personal typing, also under scrutiny, was called "one of the best electives we have" by junior high principals, and probably will be extended to eight graders.

Improvements were suggested - use of taped presentations to individualize the course, use of business students from the high school; but it was clear that typing is considered a valuable skill by junior high students. Principals Richard McGrail and Richard Neal reported that over 80% of their ninth grade students opted for typing.

The room was full of dentists for the dental hygiene discussion and they seemed willing to help the schools update the present program, which was devised for the 1930's, when dental care was at a low level. Dr. Harold Faigel, of Andover president of the Greater Lawrence Dental Society, will head a committee to "suggest an ideal dental health education program for Andover schools." He agreed in response to Dr. Richard Katz's motion to this effect, unanimously passed by the committee.

Dr. Steven Halem, a new dentist in Andover, proposed a Baltimore plan he has participated in: an intensive curriculum of dental health education and training at a chosen age level, supervised by the volunteer services of local dentists. He suggested that Andover dentists would willingly take their turn on a three-man rotating board to oversee such a curriculum.

Lone dissenter to change was Mrs. Florence Daly, school hygienist, who claimed in report that "a large number of children would never get any dental care if there was no dental program in the schools."

Dr. Halem assured her that the aim was not to cut out dental hygiene, but redirect it, to avoid duplication of services and unnecessary administrative work of sending home dental cards to families who already provide care. Actual dental care should be reserved for those in actual need. Mrs. Daly set the number of low-income families in her schools - Bancroft, Doherty and East Junior High - at 264.

High School Principal Philip Wormwood proposed putting drivers education out to bid to private firms, on the retirement of driving Teacher Owen Hinckley this year. He suggested that if parents paid approximately half the costs - $25 a child, the schools could probably provide driver training to the student who wanted it, when they want it, at no extra cost to the taxpayer.

The cost per pupil is high now, Wormwood said, yet many of the students do not get driver training at the school, because the present classes cannot handle the demand. The present plan is also difficult to administer, because of parent request that their children be placed high on the list to receive training.

The committee seemed ready to send out for bids, but Committeemen Dr. Richard Katz and William Lane cautioned that more spadework had to be done, to write in proper school controls into the situation. Committeeman Frank Hill agreed and withdrew his motion to ask for bids, until a further report from the administration. One item to be cleared up. Why does it cost $32.50 per student to give drivers' training in the summer, and $183 per student in the winter?

A student-narrated slide show of the South School archaeological dig under Dr. Richard MacNeish was a pleasant interlude in the committee meeting. When Teacher Mrs. Debbie Blumberg and her Orange Wing student representatives had finished, Dr. Katz singled the South School out for high praise for "the involvement of teachers with kids, and teachers' arranging for community involvement. . . . As a parent I'd like to say that South is a good school."

Committeeman Lane innocently touched off gales of laughter by criticizing installation of West Elementary School playground equipment as "so dangerous it ought to be roped off or repaired immediately" because of high jagged edges on the cement footings. Why so funny? Because Dr. Frank Griggs had seen the playground equipment waiting for installation, had volunteered and put in cement footings himself. He acknowledged that the job was never finished. He had assumed the school system would take care of cleaning off the jagged edges once he had it installed. One hopes his helpful instincts aren't forever squelched, by the experience.

Chairman William King announced that Town Manager Maynard Austin would release names of the Renovation Building committee by next week, in time for a June 21 meeting of that committee.

Garry Stephens, chairman of the Climate for Learning Committee, told the committee that final computer tabulation of his committee's questionnaire would not be ready until September, but some raw results would be ready late in June. He noted some fragmentary results: Citizens favor documenting students' rights and responsibilities, 9-1; they favor more parental involvement in student problems, and they feel, 4-1 that the schools place too much emphasis on college entrance.

Testing Results To Be Issue

Publication of results of last year's Stanford Achievement Tests is sure to be an issue in the school superintendent's status report to the community Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the Doherty School. The administration has a slide presentation for a partial report on the tests.

Dr. Seifert has announced that his second annual status report will also include some evaluation of open concept schools.

The PTO Advisory Council has just informed the school committee of its 5-4 vote that the administration should release the school-by-school results of the SATs to PTO elected representatives.

A minority report, however, notes the close votes and the fact that only 10 of the (more than 30) members of the PTO Advisory Council were present for the vote. The minority urges the administration to stick to its policy, which is to release the SAT results of individual students to their parents, also the system results and the national results, this way, parents can see how their child has achieved on the tests compared to the Andover and the national norms and how Andover compares to the national norms.

Both sides of this controversy can be expected to be heard at tonight's meeting.

Dr. Seifert told the TOWNSMAN that the system's results are satisfactory, compared against the national norms - average or above, with the exception of a few grade levels on one subtest, where they fell slightly below national norms. Most were above average.

What does concern him is the swings and variations at the same grade level between different schools, and also swings and variations of achievement within one school, at different grade levels.

He described the results between different elementary schools, for example, as "a hodge-podge," with most schools at the top of the Andover heap at one grade level, but near the bottom at another grade level. According to Seifert, these swings are impossible to evaluate correctly, until there is a common curriculum, as has been instituted recently in mathematics and is being instituted in reading. Seifert said that the swings are evidence that the coordination of curriculum in the Andover schools is still not where it ought to be. He notes that the two-year timetable for secondary schools is aimed to improve this.

Will all the results of the SAT's be in all schools released this evening? Evidently not, as this would "pit one school against another" on insufficient data, says the administration. But the superintendent does intend to release data for some evaluation of the open concept school, without comparing individual schools to each other. Seifert warned that the situation will still be confusing next year. SAT tests were administered at an earlier month in the school year this year, so the results of even an individual child for the two years cannot be compared without some fancy numberwork to put them on an equal footing.

No. Andover Tops Local Team, 4-1

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team dropped a 4-1 decision to North Andover last Saturday in its 1972 seasonal opener at the Playstead Field.

Andover was to have played two games last week, but a second contest against Prospect Hill was postponed to a later date because of wet grounds at the Hayden-Schofield diamond in Lawrence.

The Andover entry in the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League was listed to play three more times this week. On Tuesday and Wednesday, after Townsman presstime, Andover battled Methuen and So. Lawrence West.

Tonight the locals are slated to face South Lawrence East at 6 p.m. at the Playstead.

Lack of hitting cost Andover the opener, as North Andover righthander Brian Smith fired a three-hitter at the locals. Smith fanned eight and walked just two.

Dave Mosher did a fine job on the hill for Andover, holding the visitors to one unearned run and three singles before tiring in the seventh inning.

The game was tied 1-1 entering the seventh-and-final frame, but here North Andover struck for three runs to ice the decision.

The winners grabbed a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning. Pete Stone led off and reached second base on a two-base in-field throwing error.

He then attempted to steal third, and came all the way around to score when the catcher's throw got past the third baseman.

North Andover continued to threaten with one out, as Mosher surrendered three straight singles to Wayne Alexander, Frank Androski and John Doherty. These were the only hits Mosher allowed.

This loaded the bases, but left-fielder Steve Fabiani pulled Andover out of further trouble by starting an unusual double play.

Rick Redman lofted a lazy fly-ball to left. Fabiani raced in for a shoestring catch, but trapped the ball instead. All three North Andover runners thought he caught the ball and held their positions.

Fabiani threw the ball to Mosher, who relayed it home to catcher Paul McIntyre for a forceout at the plate. McIntyre gunned the ball to Joe Pasquale, who stepped on third for another forceout to end the inning.

Andover tied it 1-1 in the bottom of the fifth. Thom Lawler led the frame with a sharp in-field single.

He took second on a perfect sacrifice bunt by Joe Grillo, and went to third on another bunt by Steve Galvin.

Glenn Verrette then reached out and sliced an opposite-field RBI single to left to rescue Lawler.

Mosher started the fatal seventh by issuing back-to-back walks to Alexander and Androski.

Fabiani was summoned for relief duty, and with little time to warm up he walked John Doherty on four pitches to jam the bases.

The Andover infield was forced to play in on the grass, and Rick Redman capitalized by bouncing a slow roller between third and short for a two-run single. An alert cut-off play erased Doherty at second.

Brian Smith followed with a long double that chased Redman to third, and he streaked home with the final run on Steve Juba's infield out.

Andover went down 1-2-3 in the bottom of the seventh to seal the verdict.

Keith Verrette lashed a solid lead-off single to left in the sixth for the only other Andover hit.

The losers' had one threat that failed to produce anything in the second stanza. With two outs, Mosher reached on an error and Pasquale drew a walk. But the next batter struck out to end the frame.

Bright spots in the field for Andover were Steve Galvin, who handled four chances flawlessly, the first baseman Jeff Winters who made some excellent scoops of low throws.

The team also wished to thank umpires Thom Lawler, Sr. and Frank Rindone, who donated their services and did a fine job after it was learned that the regular officials would be unable to attend.

the shore where Dr. O'Reilly injected adrenalin to revive him before rushing him to the hospital in the Andover Fire department ambulance.

The police and fire departments were called to the scene shortly before 5 p.m. when the canoe was reported capsized.

The two men had been spotted earlier going downstream from the shopping center area. They had bypassed a fallen tree in the stream near the Sacred Heart school.

It is believed the two men had ducked in their craft to go under a metal bridge a short distance from the falls, located directly behind the power plant and a short distance from the New England Milk Producers Association plant.

There was apparently little time to avoid the "rapids," and the boat capsized, according to preliminary reports.

Divers and public safety officials were still at the scene early Wednesday afternoon attempting to locate the body of the Andover man.

Lawrence and North Andover public safety officials were notified by Andover fire officials to be on the lookout along their sections of the stream which terminates at the Merrimack River in North Andover.

Salem, N. H. and the state police sent skindivers to the scene Tuesday night.

The victim was an assistant professor of psychology at Merrimack College and recently joined the staff of the Psychological Center, 93 Main St., as a consultant.

He is married.

Dr. Trumpeter received his Ph.D. in clinical psychology at the University of Illinois this June. He had worked at the University Counseling Service at the Psychological Clinic in Champaign-Urbana and at the Veterans Administration hospital there.

Rescue units at the scene were directed by Deputy Fire Chiefs Harold Hayes, William T. Downs and Albert Cole.

Responding, in addition to the local police and fire crews were members of the Civil Defense communications units.

attendance at the track Sunday afternoon.

The association has appealed the decision of the board of appeals in District Court. A hearing is awaited, but the court calendar may not permit such action until the fall.

Meanwhile, Town Counsel will seek to have the activity stopped by appearing in Superior Court on Monday morning. The hearing was originally scheduled for Friday, but court conferences will not permit action until Monday.

The pony association operated at the location last year and several complaints were registered concerning noise. Loudspeakers are used in the operation. Sanitary facilities are also said to be less than adequate.

Such matters were presented at the hearing before the board of appeals as neighbors objected to the granting of the special permit.

The association has been operating under a statute which permits it to conduct its activity as a non-profit organization. At the board of appeals hearing, it was pointed out the activity was for recreation purposes only and no gambling was allowed.

It was reported that there were about 15 to 20 races scheduled on Sunday.

Train Service

Once again, Andover and its adjoining communities, seems caught in a political bind destined to create problems which should be easily solved.

The town has been notified that the once-a-day train service to and from Boston will terminate at the end of June.

The MTA which has been running the commuter train into Boston in the morning and out in the evening, is subsidized by the state for this service, along with participating communities such as Andover which annually appropriates sufficient sums of money to continue the service.

Now, apparently the state legislature and Boston authorities can not seem to get together on the continued subsidy of the service.

The Boston and Maine has long been more than interested in dropping passenger service completely.

The MTA has been operating the line, with more frequent stops from Wilmington into Boston.

It is a curious dilemma which the higher authorities place communities such as Andover in, since local towns and cities can not pick up the cost of this public transportation alone.

At the same time core cities, such as the Hub are seeking means to relieve pollution problems from automobiles, as well as traffic congestion.

We can see inherent in the solution the move to make towns like Andover become subject to 'Tentacles, Inc.' otherwise known as the MTA, with its deficit ridden operation.

Greater Lawrence has done quite well without getting into MTA, relying on the private enterprise of the Trombly Motor Coach Co., to continue bus service to the area.

It should behoove local officials to exert all pressure necessary to continue the daily train service to and from Boston.

It is of serious concern to some 300 daily commuters, businessmen and others, who must get to and from Boston daily.

It requires the convincing of state and Boston officials to cease their childlike groping for power to provide the necessary relief, which ultimately will be beneficial to both the Hub and Andover.

Commencement

This is commencement week in Andover, with public and private schools holding appropriate exercises for the young leaders of tomorrow.

It is a happy and important time for all.

For many, June and graduation represent the culmination of another step along the road of life. To others, the same period marks an advanced step, having attained degrees or met requirements for the performance of professional or technical services.

To all of us their accomplishment represents the continued interest by our youth in keeping our community, state and nation strong.

Today's youth, in their educational pursuits, have represented a changed attitude, in many cases a more mature person, questioning early his status in life and the world around him.

In some cases, the rambunctious youth have become center stage through their demonstrative actions.

But, by and large, that element of destruction omnipresent a few years ago, has given way to the mature youth searching for knowledge and logic.

Based on the premise that the Class of 1972 is prepared to meet its challenge armed with the tools given through modern educational processes, coupled with their own search for truth, the future seems secure.

To the graduates, our congratulations and best wishes for the future.

Trees

During the past several weeks, the tree department under the supervision of Supt. Philip Busby, has been busy planting a number of new trees in several sections of the town.

The work is commendable.

The work of this particular agency is little known, until such time as nature deals a severe blow to a limb or tree, then there is an emergency call for expert surgical treatment.

But, these men, ardent environmentalists, have a year-round interest in the beautification of the community.

The annual spring tree planting program is one of those tasks which are accomplished without fanfare. The care of the young trees is the next step and this too, is within their province and one can be assured, the safety and health of the many new plantings will be watched.

We feel this little known work of one of our town departments worthy of commendation in view of their continued interest in not only the beautification of the community but environmental protection as well.

Off The Top

Chalk it up to youthful inconsistency.

Following one of the downpours Sunday afternoon, two young ladies were walking up one of the local streets, one barefoot, the other fully shod.

Approaching a rather large puddle, guess what?

The barefooted one, whose feet could have approached the water quite accommodatingly, gingerly sidestepped the deluged area, while the one with shoes strode nonchalantly through.

Modern science can certainly be confusing at times.

Driving home last Thursday night, the radio related the progress of the Red Sox game which at that point was 7-0 in the ninth inning as the approach to the garage was made.

Once inside the house, the Red Sox were scoring three of their seven runs in the seventh inning, on television.

Seems the game was put on tape for delayed broadcast while the President addressed Congress.

It all became clear after a while but a bit confusing at first.

Just a suggestion to the new head of the recreation department.

Watertown recently enacted a dog leash law and the recreation department went to work and started an obedience school.

Graduation ceremonies were held last Saturday morning and one mutt graduated magna cum laude. Seems he was struck by a car en route to the first class and survived to get his diploma, having already learned lesson number one, never chase a moving vehicle.

Congregational participation in religious services has become the order of the day, but a recent service had a little extra.

As the priest of a nearby church rose to the pulpit to deliver his sermon, he requested a worshipper to assist him by coming forward and giving a bat his freedom.

The clergyman had captured the winged creature by carefully placing his 'sole' on its wing.

Golfers should rise to the occasion and support Andover's need for a new landfill site, based on the experience in Lexington.

A resident of the community has proposed use of the landfill site there as a practice golf driving range.

The proposal, under study by the planning board, was given to the town as being an excellent use of the land with its wide open expanse.

The area has been used as a landfill and has been exhausted as far as its future use as such a town facility.

Louise VanEveren, who is serving as local representative of the committee seeking funds for the construction of the Joe Dodge center in Pinkham Notch, has more than a passing interest in the project.

An active member of the Appalachian Mountain club which is building the new conference center, and bunkrooms as a tribute to Joe Dodge, her son, Dr. Brooks Van Everen, also a committee member, worked for Joe Dodge summers from age 13 until he went into the Army. He was hutmaster of many of the huts. He also met his wife as a member of the club.

Mid-June to early or mid-July is the time to control many scale insects that cause serious injury to evergreens, especially those used as foundation plantings. The young of these pests are then in the crawling stage and most vulnerable to sprays. After that, they will encase themselves in armor or shield-like coverings and settle down to suck plant juices. Scale insects may kill whole branches and sometimes entire trees.

Prominent P.A. Instructors To Retire

George Sanborn

Biology teacher George Knight Sanborn will retire Friday after 44 years as teacher and friend to students of Phillips Academy, his alma mater, in his native community of Andover.

Sanborn's 44 years is the longest span of service any Phillips Academy teacher has given, since the mandatory retirement age was instituted. However, longevity of years is the last thing that anyone would associate with George Sanborn, seeing him pedal his bike swiftly by, unbelievably fit and cheerful, climb a mountain or lead a cross country ski group in his retirement year.

George Sanborn has served his school ably in many capacities since he was appointed in 1928: mathematics teacher, biology teacher, housemaster, coach, advisor to the outing club and the Natural History Club, the mountain climbing club and the skiing club, supervisor of the work program and warden of the Moncrieff Cochran Sanctuary.

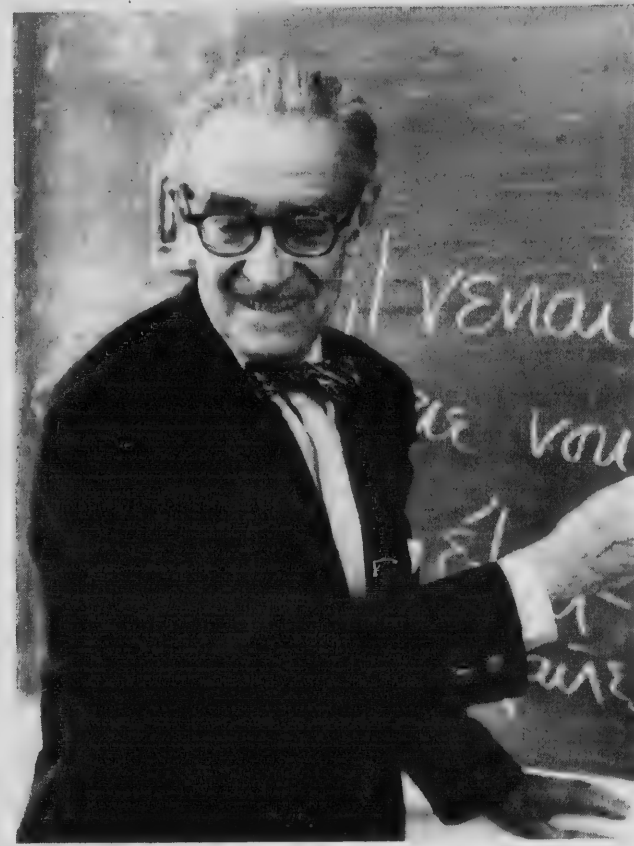

The Phillips Academy teacher is the son of Henry Sanborn, Andover's longtime superintendent of schools, for whom the Sanborn Elementary School is named. His wife, Fonty, the former Frances Flagg, is the daughter of another old and respected Andover family.

George attended Phillips Academy and went on to Dartmouth College, where he won an SB in biology, and was graduated Phi Beta Kappa. Fonty attended Abbot Academy and graduated from Mt. Holyoke College.

Sanborn was appointed to the Phillips Academy faculty in 1928, to fill a mathematics opening. He taught mathematics for 25 years, and was author or co-author of three exercise books in algebra and plane geometry.

After his first quarter century at Phillips, the math teacher turned to his college major and avocation, and made biology his teaching vocation.

Commencement at Phillips Academy this year will mark the close of Dr. James Hooper Grew's 37 years of service to the school as teacher of French, housemaster, and department and divisional chairman.

It has been a distinguished career, studded with honors and awards for his innovations as a language teacher, and for his good offices in encouraging and improving the teaching of foreign languages and culture in American secondary schools.

Dr. Grew is national vice-president of the American Association of Teachers of French and is regarded by fellow members of language associations as one of the top-ranking French scholars in the country.

France has awarded him the Medal of French Gratitude, 1947, Academic Palms, 1949, and the Legion of Honor, 1955. He was a Fulbright Fellow in Belgium, 1953, and has held two teaching chairs at Andover, one endowed by the Elizabeth Milbank F. Anderson Foundation, 1958-70, and the chair of the Independent Foundation Teaching Endowment, 1970-present.

He is a member of the Modern Language Association, American Association of Teachers of French, American Council of Teachers of Foreign Languages, and Modern Foreign Language Association. He has traveled widely in Europe and the Near East, as well as in this hemisphere.

Dr. Grew is author, in collaboration with his colleague Daniel Olivier, of a textbook being published this year: "1001 Pitfalls in Learning French." He is associate editor and a contributor to "French Review," has published articles in "Modern Language Journal," and "Independent School Bulletin," and twice has been a panelist on the WGBH radio program in French, "A Batons rompus."

James Grew was educated at St. Mark's School, Harvard University and the University of Paris (Sorbonne), where he received the degree of Docteur es Lettres. He was teacher and housemaster at the Middlesex School for two years, before being appointed at Phillips Academy.

He came to Phillips Academy in 1935. He was a housemaster there, with his wife, the former Alma Clayburgh, until 1938, when the Grews moved to their home of the last 14 years, on Hidden Field Road.

Mrs. Grew has become known as one of Andover's great hostesses, because of the Grew's concern for making new faculty members feel at home on the campus.

Dr. Grew's classes at Phillips Academy have long been popular for their interest, their wit and warmth.

The great change which Dr. Grew brought to the teaching of French and other languages was this: striking all English out of the classroom, no matter what the emergency. From the very beginning, students learned by hearing French, beginning to understand the meaning, and answering questions in French. Even examinations have cross-translations, but are presented and answered entirely in French. This became known as the Andover method, adopted at schools across the country; it has also been called the "mother's knee" method, because it parallels as closely as possible a child's learning of his mother tongue.

Dr. Grew became head of the French department at Phillips Academy in 1944 and in 1969 was appointed to his present position as head of the Division of Modern Languages.

Among his contributions to language teaching outside of Phillips Academy, the most noteworthy to Andover townspeople have been the third grade French program, initiated by Dr. Grew and his colleagues Stephen Whitney and Floyd Humphries, and Dr. Grew's adult evening study courses for French teachers. An Andover public school teacher points out that "no one can estimate the value of his adult

Let us first criticize ourselves in regards to actions and thoughts concerning issues of the times. We are confronted with many, many issues of concern to our great country the United States of America. As good Americans we will continue to be concerned. I would like to quote Abraham Lincoln, one of our great presidents of the United States of America: "With malice toward none and charity for all."

Let us remember Lincoln's words as we celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Lincoln Memorial. Erected in Washington, D.C., it is one of the outstanding memorials in the world. As one stands before it with awe, it transmits very vividly the principles on which our great

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN: The Town of Andover Patriotic Holiday Committee wishes to express publicly its appreciation and gratitude to all those who contributed to the Memorial Day observance. Without the splendid cooperation and unstinting efforts of literally hundreds of townspeople, the conspicuous success of the day would not have been possible.

A special word of thanks must go to the behind the scenes workers, whose labors are often taken for granted by those unaware of the magnitude of their contributions. Our thanks for a job well done go to the Andover Police Department, the various cemetery Superintendents and workers, the custodial staff at the East Junior High School, and the veterans of Andover who placed over 1100 flags on the graves of Andover's honored dead.

The Patriotic Holiday Committee also salutes the Andover TOWNSMAN for its wholehearted support of the Memorial Day activities and its leadership in the community in the remembrance of patriotic occasions.

To all those who shared in the solemn commemoration of Monday, May 29, either as participants or spectators, thank you.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN: Through your column, the Co-Chairmen of the Andover Clown Town would like to extend a belated, but nonetheless sincere thank you to the School Department, Park and Recreational Department, Public Works Department, Police Department and all who gave their time to help us with this year's Clown Town. To the families in the community who ignored the inclement weather, and attended Clown Town - a big thank you!

Clown Town has become an Andover tradition and the spirit shown by the Andover members on that rainy Saturday three weeks ago, is good indication it will be around for some time.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN: Negative thinking in our United States of America by the minority seems to be the trend in this Era.

They criticize for the sake of criticizing without due knowledge of what they criticize.

When persons cannot fit in our society they strut to attract attention to themselves. To accomplish same they try one manner or another to make it work.

Also in this Era we are getting plenty of strutting - sophistication - apathy and lack of stability. A person must be capable to handle his own life first. This makes him capable of doing a better job working with other people.

Let us first criticize ourselves in regards to actions and thoughts concerning issues of the times. We are confronted with many, many issues of concern to our great country the United States of America. As good Americans we will continue to be concerned. I would like to quote Abraham Lincoln, one of our great presidents of the United States of America: "With malice toward none and charity for all."

country the United States of America was founded.

It also depicts what a great American Abraham Lincoln was to all peoples in our great country the United States of America.

Group Seeks Information On Ecology

The Essex County Health Association, with the assistance of North Shore Community College, is in the process of compiling for distribution an index of all "ecology" oriented groups, clubs and organizations within the County. The comprehensive Index will contain summary material on each group's purposes, goals and present projects, including the names of the principal officers and other pertinent information.

Presently, there is no complete, central listing of this sort within Essex County. This published Index will relate what organizations are located throughout the County's 34 communities so that the respective citizenry will now know where they can join in the efforts being made toward their own environmental improvement. The Index will also show what, if any, groups are duplicating the efforts of others, or, on the other hand, what gaps of improvement are being overlooked.

Anyone who knows of or participates within, an ecology orientated civic group, school club, or governmental agency, etc., is welcomed to have that group listed. In order to receive the forms for you to fill in with the required information, please write Ecology Index, Box 288, Topsfield, Mass. 01983.

The group is also looking for a few volunteers on the project, to work within their area of concern.

28 Students Hear About House Design

Gable, gambrel and hip, to describe roof styles are now familiar words to ninth grade art students at East Junior High school after viewing a slide lecture on "Andover's Historic Architecture," given by Dr. Robert Adamsky last Friday.

Art teachers, Miss Susan Dayevar and Mrs. Patricia Pope, sponsored Dr. Adamsky to give this mini-course to interested art students.

Dr. Adamsky is an instructor of chemistry at Bradford Junior College. His avocational interest in old houses has led to restoration work. His own home is a Federalist period house on Main street.

CAR TALK

LITTLE FUSE - BIG TROUBLE

If an electric component on your car stops functioning, the first thing to check is the fuse. Normally, we'd leave this to the nearest service station. But what if you're miles from help, and the instrument panel lights, heater, turn indicators, or other equally important equipment quits?

To get it back into operation, you'll need two things: the right size fuse and the knowledge of where the fuse goes. Now is a good time to get out the owner's manual, make a list of the fuses required, and get at least one spare of each size to keep in the glove compartment. It's also a good idea to take a few minutes, with the manual in hand, and find out exactly where the fuses are located.

One note of caution: never replace a fuse with one of a larger rating or wrap the burned-out fuse with foil to "make do." Either action can cause a dangerous and expensive fire.

Fair Day Scheduled At Center

The third annual "Fair Day," a major fund raising event for the Christian Formation Center, Andover, will be held this year, rain or shine, on Sunday, June 25 from 12 noon to 6 p.m.

According to Rev. Francis Paolo, O.F.M., director of the Christian Formation Center, CFC friends, old and new, young people and oldsters, are actively working to make this event a huge financial and social success for the Center.

The Christian Formation Center, a non-profit organization, opened its doors in 1968 to serve the religious, cultural, social and educational needs of the people of the Merrimack Valley area. Through the years thousands of children and adults have participated in the many programs and activities conducted at the Center.

This year, as in the past, "Fair Day" festivities include various booths and activities such as white elephant, arts and crafts, snack bar, jewelry, religious banners and articles, bakery products, and fun and games for the young in heart. Many other booths will be added this year including a "Polish kitchen" and also many more attractions for younger children. The theme and atmosphere of a "country store" will dominate the whole event.

Tickets for "Fair Day" includes a roast chicken dinner with all the trimmings and with dessert and beverage to be served throughout the afternoon. For tickets and further information call the Christian Formation Center.

Employment Picture Encouraging

Developments in the Massachusetts economy from March to April were mixed, according to Richard C. Gilliland, Director of the Division of Employment Security.

An encouraging drop in unemployment occurred from 208,400 in March to 201,900 in April (from 7.9 to 7.6 percent of the state workforce). Also on the plus side was an increase in total employment of 27,700, the largest for the month in three years.

When the estimates are seasonally adjusted to reveal the long-term trend, however, the adjusted unemployment rate rose from 7.5 percent in March to 7.9 percent in April, considerably above the 5.9 percent adjusted rate for the country as a whole. The rising level of unemployment is due to deficiency in growth rather than to layoffs. In the twelve months since April 1971, the state workforce has increased by 25,900 and employment by only 6100. Unemployment in the year has accordingly increased from 179,100 (6.8 percent) to 201,900 (7.6 percent) and stands at the highest rate for the month since 1958.

Employment in most manufacturing industries changed little from March to April with durable goods industries (metal, machinery, electrical equipment, ships, cars, etc.) dipping by 900 to 299,500 and nondurables (textiles, shoes, apparel, etc.) inching up from 299,300 to 299,400. In the past 12 months, while durable goods payrolls are down by 5,300 (in continuation of the three-year decline), nondurables have added 600, the first April since 1966 that this sector reports an upturn over the previous April.

Announce Candidacy For County Commission

Donald W. Gardner, Jr., of Andover, announced his candidacy for County Commissioner Sunday following a meeting of the newly-formed Citizens for Essex County Reform (CECR).

Gardner, 36, and a long-time resident of Essex County, feels the people must take a hard look at the structure of county government and the role this level of government could play. He is seeking the endorsement of the citizens reform group at an open caucus they are holding on Saturday, June 17, 9:30 a.m. at Salem State College Auditorium.

For two years an instructor in history at Phillips Academy, Andover, Gardner is also coordinator for both the Boston and the Washington government intern programs involving about 30 students.

Before coming to Andover, Mr. Gardner taught during a sabbatical leave at the Canadian Academy, an international school in Kobe, Japan. From 1962 to 1969 he was an administrator at Williams College, teaching briefly, and serving as Dean of Student Affairs. While at Williams he served the community in a variety of ways - chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, chairman of the United Fund Drive, a director of the Community Chest, and the Boys' Club and was a captain of a major North Adams Hospital Building Fund Drive.

Mr. Gardner grew up in Marblehead where he was educated in the public schools. An honors graduate of Williams College, he went on to Yale University where he received an M. A. in American history. He also served three years in the U. S. Air Force, earning his commission in OCS.

He is married to the former Pokey Reed of North Conway, N. H. They have two daughters, Rebecca 8, and Elizabeth 6, both students at the South school. Mrs. Gardner has long been active in the League of Women Voters.

Involved in local, state, and national politics for many years, Gardner was an officer of the Williamstown Democratic Town Committee, and this April was elected to the Andover Democratic Town Committee and to the Vice-Chairmanship of that committee. Gardner sees the need for more citizens to become actively engaged in government at all levels.

"County government," he feels "has for too long remained the invisible level of government. For years we've been living with juvenile detention homes that are now seen to be outdated and harmful to the young people they are supposed to help. There is no civil service system for county workers. Taxes levied on the cities and towns now amount to $10.9 million, but we do not know how it is spent, for what, and by whom. We have inherited an archaic governmental structure. And now we are faced with the critical problems of unemployment, pollution, water supply, solid waste disposal, land use, conservation, recreation and housing . . . problems that have been recognized as regional in scope. But their regional solutions will only be found through regional cooperation and concern and only with bold and creative leadership. Our County Commissioners must be willing to challenge the methods and solutions of the past. It is time we took a hard look at county government and regional government, not as a passing cause, but as a growing concern, and with a no-nonsense commitment to our own towns and to our neighboring communities."

To Present Children's Opera

The Community Music Center of Boston, located at the Boston Center for the Arts, 541 Tremont St., Boston, will present an original Children's opera Saturday, June 10 at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. and Sunday, June 11, 2 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

This is made possible by a grant from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities. The Center is a non-profit organization which has been serving the Greater Boston community for over sixty years. It is not just a music school -- it is a focal point for community activity and fulfills a need for a unique place where people can turn for a high standard of musical education and for recreation in an atmosphere of understanding and friendship. They believe that students will benefit from the discovery of music as a valid alternative to athletics and other leisure time pursuits.

Susan Hill, executive director of the Community Music Center is a resident of Andover and Boston and attended Pike School, Abbot Academy and Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

Family Activities For Gala

The annual Fund Raising Gala for the National Center of Afro-American Artists will be a two day affair this year. Not only will adults be able to share the black experience once again, but an entire day of activities has been included for the children.

U. S. Senator Edward Brooke, Glendora Putnam, chairman of the Mass. Commission against Discrimination and William Taylor, treasurer and general manager of the Boston Globe, are co-chairmen.

The evening of June 9 will begin with a reception-exhibition at city hall, followed by a revue, and then an all night cabaret at the Elma Lewis School in Dorchester, featuring Mongo Santa Maria, the Billy Taylor Trio, Jaki Byard and the professional artists of the Center.

Saturday, June 10 has been reserved exclusively for children. The morning will include art experiences that will involve all the participants, and the opportunity to share in dance, drama and music workshops. The final event will be a teenage dance at the Elma Lewis School.

Teams In Battle For Top Spot

In eight action-packed ball games, the American Minor league headed for the home stretch with two teams battling for the top spot.

While the leasing Tigers and pursuing Senators kept winning, the Red Sox lost three games to improved competition and slipped out of second place.

The Sox were first shaken by the Angels 13-7 as Rick Rotolo outpitched Scott Cochran. Kevin McQuade banged a grand slam home run which made the big difference. Joseph Veilleux had two for two and Rick Welch, three for three for the Angels. For the Red Sox Terry Schwing's home run with one on was the big blow.

Results In National Minor Loop

Astros 12, Pirates 11 - The mighty Astros, down six runs, came through with seven to win the game in spectacular fashion. Ted Paris, with a grand slam homer provided the big blast for the winners. Eric Darby had three hits, Ed Darby, Bill Crabtree and Seth Lloyd each had two hits.

Joe Lahood with two homers and Keith Williams highlighted the Pirates attack.

Braves 11, Phillies 6 - Great pitching by Kevin Seifert and Andy Powell, great defensive play by Mark Grigoli and hitting by Dave Stein, Chris Witt and Robby Serbagi featured the Braves win.

The Weissman family provided the offense for the losers, Greg's double knocking in three runs and Chris extending his hitting streak.

Giants 14, Cardinals 7 - Andy Billings gave up only five hits and six walks while striking out ten for the winning Giants. He also had three hits in three times at bat.

Jim Thompson, Peter Gravellese and Dave Bono were the big hitters for the Phillies.

Redlegs 13, Dodgers 11 - Bob Cataldo pitched a fine game for the Redlegs, ably supported at the plate by Steve Vayanos, with a homer and two singles, Bill Stahley with a single and a double by Jim Hamilton and Ray Umanzio.

For the losing Dodgers, Paul Vayanos belted out two hits, knocking in four runs, Mark O'Brien had three hits and Alan Berkwith a brace of doubles.

Braves 16, Dodgers 4 - The combined pitching of Andy Powell and Bill Scheerer overwhelmed a scrappy Dodger team. Mark Grigoli had three hits and Andy Veil delivered a bases loaded triple.

Barry Ota starred on offense for the losers.

Astros 9, Redlegs 3 - Top pitching and superb defense were the big elements in this one, with Ted Paris pitching extremely well shutting out the league leaders over the last four innings. Ed and Eric Darby provided the batting power.

For the Redlegs, Tom Busta and Roy Umanzio pitched well while Bill Stahley was the offensive spark.

Cardinals 12, Braves 2 - Sean Parker, Alan White, Paul Bracken and Jim Thompson pitched two superb innings apiece to master the Braves.

The big wallop for the winners was a grand slam homer by Dave Bono.

Hard luck continued for the Red Sox as they lost to Doug Mesler and the Orioles, 9-4. Heavy hitters for the Orioles were Robert Reilly with four hits, Jim Allen and Doug Mesler each with three hits.

The Yankees managed a 10-9 upset of the Red Sox in an exciting well played game. The Yanks got clutch pitching from Mark Neistadt and doubles from Chris McDaniel and Neistadt. The Red Sox were led by Terry Schwing and Scott Cochran.

After a slow start, the Patriots have won three out of their last five games with a defense which has given up less than eight runs a game. The Pats squelched the

For the losers, Kevin Seifert pitched a two inning relief stint, while Andy Powell and Mark Grigoli were the offensive stars.

Phillies 15, Giants 11 - A great effort by the whole Phillies team cut the Giants down. For the winners, Gary Morrisette pitched well in relief and Chris Weissman came through with a bases loaded double. Scott Kelsey belted out three hits, Jay DiOrto continued his hitting streak and Tim Doran made a couple of fine catches.

For the losers, Andy Billings collected two hits, Matt Billings got four hits, including a homer and Brian McGettrick clouted his first homer of the season.

Pirates 14, Dodgers 10 - Ted Teichert notched another victory for the Pirates and helped his own cause with a triple. Andy Cobin clouted a triple and Larry Marocco bashed out three hits piece.

For the Dodgers, Byron Cleveland had three hits, Ron Boothby two, while Barry Ota and Bruce Tallman played first rate defensive games.

The standings: Astros 6-4, Redlegs 6-4, Braves 7-5, Phillies 6-5, Pirates 6-5, Cardinals 4-6, Dodgers 5-7, Giants 3-7.

Vegetable Flavor Returns

With the local growing season in full swing, real flavor has returned to our vegetables, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. Spinach, scallions and radishes have begun to come in to the market from nearby farms, and the supply will increase rapidly over the next few weeks.

Fresh, native asparagus, cut and delivered to market daily, is at the height of its harvest, and will continue so for a while. It has never been sweeter.

The supply of Massachusetts cucumbers is still good, with prices reasonable. And the good taste of real tomatoes is back, with local greenhouse grown tomatoes coming in. Identify them by the bright green stem. They're packaged or displayed stem up, contrary to the winter imports.

Right now the corn is as high as a rooster's eye -- about six inches. Don't expect the first pick before mid-July, says a market reporter.

Some of our native salad crops begin to reach the market this week, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA), with Boston, Red (Oak Leaf) and Salad Bowl lettuce found at many roadside markets, coming in daily from their own fields.

There is no union conflict with Massachusetts - grown lettuce, according to the MDA. A spokesman points out that our local lettuce--the three varieties noted above, plus Bibb lettuce--is leaf lettuce, as opposed to the "Iceberg" variety which is the national crop, grown predominantly in California, Arizona and New Mexico, and harvested by workers who follow the crops.

Farms here are much smaller than the huge, corporate enterprises found in the west, and here the farmers themselves do the work, with some resident field workers.

Angels, 7-3 as Heydon Traub turned in a particularly smooth, errorless game at shortstop. Tim Cronin won his second game on the mound as Reid Thompson had two hits and two runs. Big gun for the Angels was J. Marciano with a double.

The Pats also defeated the White Sox, 15-12 on a wet field. A long Heden Traub grand slam for the Pats told the story.

The Tigers defeated the Angels 16-10 in a game that saw the Angels come from behind twice only to succumb to some heavy hitting. Brian Bronson belted a grand slam and Dave Heislén drove in four runs. Two timely hits by Mark Bedell bolstered the Tiger attack. For the Angels, Kevin Lafferty and Richard Marciano each chipped in a single and a double.

The Senators remained one game behind the Tigers coasting over the Yankees, 21-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Jody Yameen.

The Senators scored nine runs in the second inning, with Jeff Rosen's triple and Larry Starr's grand slam accounting for most of the scoring. Eric Carlisle had a perfect day at the plate. For the Yankees, Steve Weinroth scored one run and Brian Rourke and Peter Newton had hits.

The Senators continued their winning ways with a 19-10 win over the Orioles. Jim Rathbun had four hits.

Jeff Sarkisian, three and Donald McEvoy, three, plus six RBI's. For the Orioles, Steve Neyman banged three hits, Jim Allen two and Gilbert Nicholas had two for two.

The standings: Tigers 9-1, Senators 8-2, Orioles 6-4, Red Sox 6-4, Angels, 4-6, Patriots 3-7, White Sox 2-8 and Yankees, 2-8.

Christian Scientists In Annual Meeting

"Each one heal one is the imperative of today," some 7,000 Christian Scientists gathered from around the world were told at the Annual Meeting of their denomination which opened Monday. Many members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Andover, attended.

Arthur P. Wuth, the new Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, called on people everywhere for enlarged involvement in Christian healing. "Erecting buildings is not enough," Mr. Wuth said. "Our spiritualization of consciousness, our living of the truths we profess, our spiritual perception and compassion enable us to heal... The first love of our Church is the works that attest its integrity."

The theme of the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, was "Christian Healing: The Demand on Everyone."

"We urge each branch church and each church member... to measure their progress in the light of their increased devotion to the healing ministry," the new Chairman declared.

"The first love of our Church finds expression," Mr. Wuth said, "in its Manual described purpose--'To organize a church to commemorate the word and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing.'"

Relating this to the new Christian Science Center, he described its purpose in terms of preparing "for the second century of Christian Science healing by unifying our headquarters, by providing much needed room, and by symbolizing the spiritual building that's taking place in the hearts and minds of all members."

It was announced at the meeting that the 28-story Church Administration Building and the 5-story Church Colonnade, with its film and broadcasting studios, would be completed late this year. The new Sunday School Building has been in regular use since October 1971.

No figures were released at the meeting on the overall cost of the massive new Center.

But the Treasurer of The Mother Church, Roy Garrett Watson, stated that work on the Center is going forward without fund-raising campaigns or indebtedness of any kind.

"During this past... year, The Mother Church has been the recipient," Mr. Watson said, "of a tremendous burst of gratitude, expressing the support of the Field for its development project."

This support is pouring in, Mr. Watson said, "without a fund raiser on our payroll and without one penny being paid as commission on the gifts which the Field is sending to The Mother Church voluntarily as a token of its love."

"Although the project is rapidly approaching completion," he said, "it will be several years before the cost of the buildings, the furnishings, the removal of present buildings on Church property, and the final completion of the entire master plan is paid for."

Increased interest in Christian healing in overseas areas including Black Africa was reported at the meeting.

In Nigeria recently, a shipment of fifty copies of the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, "was sold out by a single Reading Room in twenty-four hours -- and a rush order placed for more," one speaker said.

"These Africans," she added, "most of whom have little English and little formal education, are not only reading the textbook; they are healing themselves and others with it."

Significant progress was also reported by other officials.

The Christian Science Monitor, the denomination's international daily newspaper, will have completed its conversion to photo-composition by the end of the year, according to the Board of Trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society. About half the material in the Monitor is set now by this method.

"The ultimate use of video terminals and high-speed photo-composing units will make the Monitor technologically one of the most modern newspapers in the country," the report stated.

Eighty-four newspapers with a total readership of about 12 million now take The Christian Science Monitor News Service on a worldwide basis, it was announced.

This is considered a remarkable number, since the syndication arrangement with the Des Moines Register Tribune has only been in operation since January.

Arthur P. Wuth, the new Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, is a native of Denver, Colorado.

He has served the Christian Science movement in many capacities including Committee on Publication for Colorado, Christian Science lecturer, First Reader of The Mother Church, and Trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society. A Christian Science teacher, he now resides in Boston. Since 1964 he has been a member of the Board of Directors, the denomination's top administrative body.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli
Director of Music

A symphony may be described as sonata for orchestra.

The sonata, as signifying a work of several movements, is a form used for all instruments. There are also sonatas for piano, for violin, cello, organ and the like, or for any two instruments. If three instruments are involved, we may speak of it as a trio sonata; if four, as a quartet. Quintets, sextets, septets, octets -- all refer to the same form, the difference in title merely indicating the number of instruments used. Naturally, the more instruments the greater the opportunity for interplay and contrast among and the more extended and elaborate the basic form becomes. If the form as a whole is used for solo instrument and orchestra, we have a concerto; if the form is written for full orchestra, we have one of the noblest and most ambitious types of composition in music, the symphony.

The rise of the sonata was intimately bound up with two of the most important developments in the history of Western European music: The shift in emphasis from vocal to instrumental forms, and the establishment of our major-minor system of keys. As a result composers faced other aesthetic problems. As long as they set their music to a text, whether religious, dramatic, or poetic, the meaning of the words furnished a skeleton upon which they could drape their musical inspiration. But in attempting to write for instruments alone they had to organize their musical thinking without any assistance from verbal association or dramatic plot. They had, in other words, to learn to think along purely musical lines. At first they clung for support to the popular dance rhythms of the day and developed the "Suite" -- a group of fairly short movements based on popular dances in various rhythms and tempos but all in the same key.

As they grew more confident of their ability to think along purely musical lines, they branched off into the more extensive form of the sonata.

Young People To Present Comedy

The young people of the Christian Formation Center, River Road, are teaming up to present to the people of the Merrimack Valley, a comedy in two acts, entitled "Clerambard," a play dealing with French aristocracy in its first encounter with St. Francis of Assisi and his attitude of love toward all living creatures. This results in complications when the head of a family becomes converted overnight to a life of giving instead of taking. It leads to some hilarious scenes between a nagging mother-in-law, a deprived son, an innocent prostitute, a timid parish priest, and a pompous lawyer of the village and his family.

The entire production originated from the youth themselves, the youth who have come to the Center for its programs and have been associated with it for the past two years. Their efforts are concentrated on raising funds for the Christian Formation Center. All proceeds will go to the Center. The production will be set for June 16 and 17, Friday and Saturday, and curtain time will be 8 p.m. Tickets will be available at the Christian Formation Center, 475 River Road.

This comedy is made up of the following crew: Director, Marianne Farrell; Assistant Director, Bob Cunningham; Producer, Debbie Hill and Nancy Rubino; Scenic Designers, Lynn Suslovitch; Stage Manager, David Perrault; Master Carpenter, Steve Ostis; Lights, Jan O'Leary and Bob Godin; Wardrobe, Terry Gauthier and Rachel Serrano; Tickets and Program, Peggy and Coleen Chandler; Makeup, Charlene Yelverton; Hand Props, Pam Hunt; Stage Props, Maureen Bisso; Publicity, CFC TEC'ers; Sound, Tim Ostis.

The cast includes: Tom Casey as Octave, Kathy Flagg as Louise, Carol Reedy as Madame De Lere, Bob Kanellas as Comte De Clerambard, Dave Farrell as village priest, Karen Barbario as Flounder, Gail Le Fleur as Madame Galuchon, Charlene Yelverton as Evelyn Galuchon, Karen Tuccolo as Etienne Galuchon, Mary Bunker as Bridget, Joe Orphant as Monsieur Galuchon, Steve Ostis as soldier, Jim Proulx as the doctor and Gary Primeau as St. Francis.

"Clerambard" was a very successful off-Broadway production, written by the French playwright Marcel Ayme, and the CFC Youth hope to make it another success here in the Merrimack Valley.

THE MOSEL - SAAR - RUHR

Tumbling down from the Vosges Mountains in France, the Moselle River skirts the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and enters Germany at the town of Wasserbillig. Just inside the German border, the Moselle is joined by its two little tributaries, the Saar and the Ruhr. The Saar enters from the south just below the town of Trier while the Ruhr which also flows south to north, enters just above Trier. Now, joined together, they follow the serpentine path ending at the Rhein and the city of Coblenz.

The great vineyards of the Mosel-Saar-Ruhr Valley lie in several towns near the Saar and Ruhr Rivers and in a region along the upper Moselle known as the Mittel Moselle.

The Mittel Moselle in terms of great wine and vineyards should begin at the town of Trittenheim in the south and end at Uerzig in the north. The outstanding towns of the Mittel Moselle, all having their vineyards facing south and protected by the bends in the river, are south to north: Trittenheim, Neumagen, Dhron, Piesport, Wintrich, Kesten, Brauneberg, Lieser, Bernkastel, Graach, Wehlen, Zeltingen, Erden and Uerzig.

The Saar, no more than a stone's throw from Luxembourg, has very few great vineyards or towns but those that are considered great are enormously great. They are: Wiltingen and its two internationally famous vineyards Acharzhofberg and Scharzberg. Oberemmel, Ayl and Ockfen.

There are only three wine-producing villages in the Ruhr Valley: Maximin Grunhaus, Eitelsbach and Kasel.

The wines of the Saar display a certain hardness or "austerity" when compared to the delicate, light and gracious Moselles while those of the Ruhr are close to the Moselles in character they do not generally display the breeding or finesse of their older sister. All three however have the same fragrant flowery bouquet, refreshing cleanness and lightness and are remarkably low in alcohol rarely exceeding 11% by volume.

Sanborn

Sanborn introduced and developed field trips in the biology curriculum. He has been involved in birdbanding and bird population studies in cooperation with the Fish and Wildlife Service. Under his influence, biology was ecologically oriented long before ecology became a household word. He has been warden of the Cochran Bird sanctuary for years, and in charge of the conservatory of the Evans Science Building ever since it was built.

Fellow teachers testify that his enthusiasm has kindled an interest in natural history and in ecology. He organized studies on the effect of pesticides, particularly DDT, on birds, and his campus robin study focussed Audubon Society and lay interest to the death of robins from DDT. His pesticide findings and the efforts of students working with him brought about a change in the Phillips Academy elm-spray program.

Off campus, George Sanborn is a Trustee of Reservations in Massachusetts, a member of several biological societies, the Appalachian Mountain Club and the Andover Village Improvement Society. The Sanborns have traveled over most of America, including Alaska and Hawaii, particularly the wilderness areas, using riverboats, animals and their own feet.

Friends will attest that whenever and where possible, Ponty Sanborn has been at George's side, to make dormitory parties for the boys, lobster feasts at Kennebunkport, ski trips in New Hampshire or bird trips to Plum Island a very special family experience for students.

Students in the Natural History Club last year started a George Sanborn Tree Fund, which former students have augmented, to replace dying trees, and add new trees to the campus, in George Sanborn's honor, and in the spirit of his love for growing things.

His colleague Harper Follansbee writes of George Sanborn: "His patience, kindness and sensitivity give the lie to his sandy red hair, and he has always insisted on fairness to the boys. With him, they always come first, and he deals with them honestly and fairly."

His fellow French instructor, Stephen Whitney, says "James Grew revolutionized the teaching of French at Phillips Academy, and has made extraordinary contributions to the teaching of foreign languages in general across the country."

Hassman Recital Wednesday

The second organ recital of the summer series at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall will be presented by Carol Hassman on Wednesday, June 14 at 8:30 p.m.

His recital program includes: Messe pour les Paroisses; Gloria - Francois Couperin; Fantasy and Fugue in G minor (BWV 542) - Johann Sebastian Bach; Sonata No. 2 - Paul Hindemith; and Choral No. 1 in E Major - Cesar Franck.

Mr. Hassman, a native of McPherson, Kansas, studied organ with Robert Town at Wichita State University, where he was graduated in 1970 with the degree of Bachelor of Music in organ and theory - composition. While in Wichita, he was organist-choir-master at Bethany United Methodist Church and organist at Temple Emanuel. He is presently studying organ with Jack Fisher at Boston University. This is his second recital at Methuen.

The Music Hall, originally known as Serlo Hall, was erected by Edward F. Searles solely to provide the optimum visual and acoustical setting for the Walcker organ. The design was the work of the noted English architect, Henry Vaughan, who also began the Washington Cathedral and designed Groton Chapel. Completed in 1909, the Hall is about sixty-five feet in height, to the center of the vault; forty feet wide in the nave (seventy feet at the transepts); and slightly over one hundred feet in length. The somewhat over 300,000 cubic feet volume, provides an empty reverberation period of about four seconds.

The recital on June 21 will be played by Dr. Lorene Banta of Andover.

Memorial Hall Library

Fine Arts Festival

The Film Festival of the Arts continues this week with two films which will be presented on Thursday, June 8 at 3:30 in the upstairs Hall. Degas, Master of Motion will be shown, followed by the film, Wanda Landowska. Degas is recognized as one of the great painters of the 19th century. He loved to paint scenes of action in an urban setting. Wanda Landowska has brought back to modern times the pleasures of the music of the harpsichord. Come to the library on the 8th of June to watch these two artists at work. On the following Thursday, the Film Festival will feature The World of Andrew Wyeth to be followed by a second film called Pablo Casals. Plan now to watch these films each Thursday. There is no charge for any of these films. Memorial Hall Library obtains the films from the Boston Public Library as part of the Regional Inter-Library Loan Service.

Cow Bells

There is currently on exhibit at Memorial Hall Library an international collection of cowbells. The exhibit, a tribute to world dairy farming, includes bells from Switzerland, Greece, Africa, as well as various types from New England. In areas of the Far East, dairy farmers had to use teak and bamboo for bells because the metal rusted too quickly. They hand-carved wooden clappers to hang on the outside of the bell for a louder tone. The common purpose of the endless variety of bells was to keep their wearers from being lost.

Today there is no need for cows to wear bells for this purpose, and cowbells have become collectors' items. Come in and see the interesting assortment of bells in the library. They will be on display until June 22. The cowbell exhibit is on loan from the New England Dairy and Food Council of Boston.

Senior Citizens

The Film Program for the Senior Citizens is scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Baptist Church on June 15. This will be the last Film Program until September, for the senior group. However, everyone is cordially invited to participate in the Film Festival on Thursday afternoons during June at 3:30 in the afternoon. These films are shown in the upstairs Hall at the Library.

Children's Room

Children's Room activities have continued this week with the weekly VIBOR meeting on Tuesday and the next-to-last PJ Party last evening. This afternoon, the Disney film "Rusty and His Falcon" will be shown at 3:45. The film lasts 47 minutes, and should be noted, since it represents a change in the printed schedule.

Dramarama II, the improvisational theater group, will present the tale of "Molly Whuppie" in the Hall at 4 p.m. on Friday, June 9. Parents and friends are invited. Both the morning and afternoon drama groups will participate in the funny presentation, which will mark the end of Dramarama programs for the year.

Summer Programs are now available in the Children's Room and in the school libraries. Vacation Ventures begin in July and include:

The Yellow Balloon, a program of stories, records and games for children 3 1/2 years old to beginning first grade. Groups of fifteen will meet Monday mornings from 10-11 between July 3 and Aug. 21. Sign up by June 30.

The Summer Reading Club, which will meet in two sections (grades 1-3 on Tuesdays from 2-3 and grades 4-6 on Thursdays from 2-3), and which will have added fun this year because of the prizes you can win! Members who have read three or more books will be treated to a party at the end of the summer, those who have read ten books will be awarded a certificate of merit, and those who have read more than fifteen books will receive a secret prize. You may join anytime between June 27 and July 28.

Summer Film Fun, a special festival of feature-length films shown Wednesday afternoons at the Doherty School auditorium between 3 and 5. A library card will be the admission ticket for the films, which include "Toby Tyler" July 12, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" July 19, "Zebra in the Kitchen" July 26, "Captain Sindbad" Aug. 2, "The Yearling" Aug. 9, and "Those Calloways" Aug. 16.

Last but not least, the Crafts Class will return this summer with the aid of Mrs. Frances McCormick of the Andover Artists' Guild. Children who have completed at least one year of school through sixth grade are eligible for the program, which will include a three dollar fee for materials. Registrants will be evenly divided among four groups meeting once weekly either Tuesday from 9-10:30 and 10:30-12 or Thursday from 9-10:30 and 10:30-12. Ballardvale will host a similar program on Thursday mornings from 10-11:30, taught by Miss Eileen Brennan and Miss Elaine LeGendre of the main library's Children's Room.

A three dollar materials fee will also be charged for that program. Parents must register for all crafts classes by July 5 (either at the branch or at the main library), and the registration fee is payable at that time. Classes will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays between July 11 and Aug. 17.

4-H Club Meets

The last meeting of the Boots and Saddle 4-H club will be held Wednesday, June 18, at Mrs.

Kirk's barn on Haggetts Pond Road.

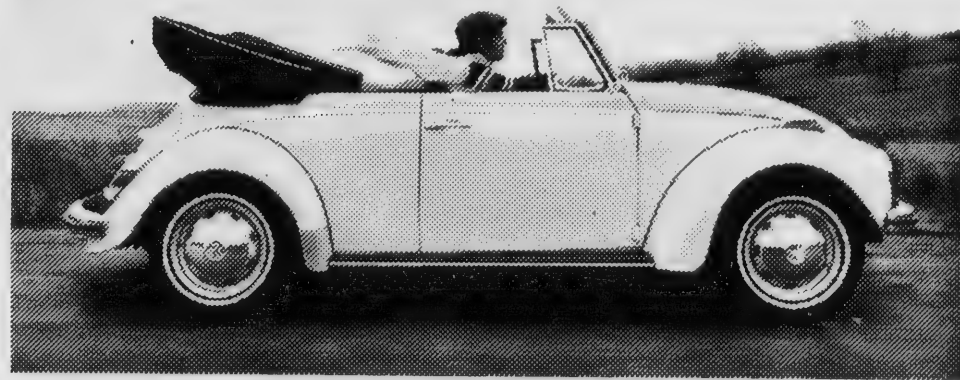

A cookout will be held, the session beginning at 6:30 p.m.

It's SUNSHINE WEEK AT Park-Hegarty Volkswagen Come on out & See All of the New Volkswagen Sunroof and Convertible Models

Inherit the wind.

If you like the idea of tooling down the open road in an open car, guess what?

The good old reliable, practical, utterly sensible Volkswagen people make a nice impractical, senseless, utterly frivolous convertible.

With the top down, the Volkswagen convertible puts the wind in your hair, the sun on your cheek, and the stars in your eyes. You are at the mercy of the elements.

But with the top up, the elements are at your mercy.

Rain won't leak in since the top overlaps the windshield frame. Cold won't seep through because the top is layered—vinyl above, leatherette below. Sound is kept to a minimum due to the good inch of padding that separates the two.

So, you see, it really isn't as drastic a character change as it may seem.

The same scrupulous inspection routine and the identical yearly improvements that go into the making of every beetle, go into the making of every convertible.

Ergo, the same economy that comes out of driving the beetle remains reassuringly intact with the topless version.

One thing more.

Don't go searching high and low on the dashboard for the control that works the top.

The mechanism that raises and lowers it is right at your fingertips. In fact, it is your fingertips.

Visit Spires' New Wallpaper Display

New wallpaper and a little paint can go a long way toward giving your home a fresh, new look!
And you can do the job yourself with the top quality supplies and expert advice offered at Jack Spires Paint and Wallpaper Co.,
205 South Union Street in Lawrence.

Jack has recently enlarged his wallpaper section, for the third time in the past few years, due to the ever increasing demands of his customers. Stop in any time and browse through his tremendous selection of wallpaper books. There's no crowd, no pressure. Take your time and compare. Or, if you prefer, take a few books home with you and look at them in your leisure with your family.

You may make your wallpaper selections from all the top names in the field: Strahan, Schumacher, Thibault, Wall-Tex, Birge, etc., many with matching fabrics. See the new vinyl wall covering in traditional and wet looks. If you wish, you can get pre-pasted vinyls which make it easy on the home handyman. All wallpapers are washable, but these new vinyls are "scrubbable". They are stain resistant, long lasting, and easy to put up and take down.
Jack also suggests murals to create a mood in a certain room, or handsome woven fabric wall covering.

For interior painting, Jack Spires carries interior Touraine paints. These can be color coordinated to your exact specifications by his Tintamatic machine designed for this purpose. Just bring in a swatch of your carpeting or drapes and match your paint to it.

For your exterior paint job, consider Tru-flex house paint
by Touraine, the all weather paint. Month after month, year after year, it retains that freshly painted look. It spreads on smoothly, leaves no brush marks, dries in 30 minutes.

There is never a parking problem at Jack Spires Paint and Jack, Kay, and son Craig. They are open daily from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M., plus Friday nights till 9

Commuter Train May Terminate

Boston and Maine train service to Boston may be ended by the end of this month, according to word received by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

The town manager reported this week that he has been notified that the once-a-day service to Boston and return will end unless further subsidization is authorized by the legislature.

The legislature has been assisting in the continuance of the service, along with Greater Lawrence communities which annually pay the Massachusetts Transit Authority for the service.

The manager said that the problem seems to be between Mayor

White of Boston, the MTA Advisory Board and the legislature, all being involved in the MTA service.

About 300 persons in the Andover and Greater Lawrence area are served by the B. and M. daily service.

Austin said that he has spoken to the selectmen and Chamber of Commerce officials about the problem and is seeking a remedy.

The MTA has a study underway, projecting mass transportation needs to the perimeter of Route 495. These plans are in the future however and are not of immediate assistance, the manager said.

the specific issues and policies which they feel should be included in the 1972 Democratic National platform.
